

Abstract

5 The present invention provides for a thermoplastic composition formed from at least one carbohydrate dissolved in at least one solvent at a sufficiently high concentration of carbohydrate, and a method of making the same. The thermoplastic composition can be made into products that are soft or firm, absorbent or non-absorbent, and hydrophobic or hydrophilic without the addition of wetting agents.